The Wokingham Way was put together over a number of months by Loddon Valley Ramblers, with the aim of designing a long-distance walk which followed the Wokingham Borough boundary as far as possible, but with the overriding goal of developing walks which would be attractive. We were surprised at how varied and interesting the Wokingham Way proved to be and we are sure you will enjoy it too. This leaflet can only provide an overview and whet your appetite. For fuller details visit our website:

Here you will find detailed instructions and a map for each section, as well as a guide to car parking and public transport for each section. There are also notes on the many historic buildings and features of interest you will find along the way.

A series of attractive walks which make up a complete circular tour around Wokingham Borough, from the River Thames, north of Henley to the River Blackwater
